

How Does the "Medical Death Industry" Align with the Illuminati's Agenda?

Sixbert SANGWA • September 08, 2024

The concept of The Medical Death Industry is introduced as part of the illuminati's broader agenda to control and exploit humanity. The strategy suggests that the global medical system, instead of prioritizing healing and well-being, has been designed by the elite to create cycles of dependency on pharmaceuticals and medical treatments that ultimately weaken the population. This system, controlled by powerful corporations and elites, is described as profiting from illness and death, leading to a spiritually and physically weakened society. For Christians, understanding the spiritual and practical dangers of this system is crucial in recognizing the ongoing battle between good and evil.

The modern medical system, while appearing to offer life-saving treatments and advancements, is often criticized for prioritizing profit over true healing. Evidence suggests that pharmaceutical companies, hospitals, and insurance providers—many of which are controlled by elite families—profit from the treatment of chronic illnesses rather than focusing on prevention or cures. The aim is to keep people in a state of dependency, relying on expensive drugs and procedures rather than addressing the root causes of their health problems.

A key component of this system is the suppression of natural and holistic medicine, which has been used for centuries to promote healing without the need for expensive interventions. The medical establishment often discredits and suppresses these alternatives because they threaten the profit margins of pharmaceutical companies. The Bible teaches the importance of seeking health and wellness in ways that align with God's natural design, as seen in Ezekiel 47:12: "Their fruit will be for food, and their leaves for healing".

One of the most concerning aspects of the medical death industry is the pharmaceutical sector's role in perpetuating illness. Critics argue that pharmaceutical companies often produce drugs that do more harm than good. While these medications may provide temporary relief, they frequently come with a range of dangerous side effects, leading to additional health problems. This cycle keeps patients dependent on a continuous stream of medications, benefiting pharmaceutical companies at the expense of public health. This phenomenon is particularly concerning when it comes to vaccines, which have been the subject of controversy regarding their safety and long-term effects. It's believed that many vaccines are contaminated with harmful substances, including heavy metals, that can cause neurological damage and other serious health issues. While vaccines are promoted as essential for public health, they serve as tools for population control and profit for the elite, who often fund and control the institutions that promote these interventions.

This aligns with the Bible's warnings against systems that exploit the vulnerable for financial gain. In James 5:1-3, the rich are condemned for hoarding wealth at the expense of others: "Come now, you rich people, weep and wail over the miseries that are coming on you. Your wealth has rotted and your clothes are moth-eaten. Your gold and silver are corroded, and their corrosion will be a witness against you".

There are more extreme elements of the medical death industry, such as medical experimentation on vulnerable populations. Throughout history, the global elite have used marginalized groups, such as prisoners, people of color, and the poor, as test subjects for dangerous medical procedures and experimental drugs. This practice has been justified under the guise of scientific advancement, but in reality, it serves as part of the elite's larger plan to reduce and control the population.

Furthermore, euthanasia and assisted suicide are presented as tools used to normalize death as a solution to suffering. By promoting these practices, the elite encourage society to view certain lives—particularly those of the elderly, disabled, or terminally ill—as expendable. This devaluation of life is part of the Luciferian agenda to undermine the sanctity of human existence, which is contrary to the Bible's teachings on the inherent value of every individual. In Psalm 139:13-14, David writes: "For it was You who created my inward parts; You knit me together in my mother's womb. I will praise You because I have been remarkably and wondrously made".

Beyond the physical dangers posed by the medical death industry, this agenda's implications also extends to the spiritual realm. By fostering physical weakness and dependency on external healing sources, the elite allegedly diminish individuals' capacity for spiritual growth and independence. This perpetual focus on illness and survival distracts people from deepening their relationship with God and understanding their spiritual purpose.

In many cases, the medical system also promotes a materialistic view of the body, reducing humans to mere biological machines rather than acknowledging their spiritual essence. The Bible teaches that we are both body and spirit, and that our health is tied to our spiritual well-being. 1 Corinthians 6:19 reminds us: "Do you not know that your bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit, who is in you, whom you have received from God? You are not your own".

Christians are called to resist the systems of the world that seek to exploit and control humanity. While modern medicine can offer important solutions, it is crucial to remain discerning and vigilant about the motivations behind certain medical practices. The Bible encourages believers to seek wisdom and healing from God, rather than relying solely on human systems that may be corrupt. Proverbs 3:7-8 advises: "Don't be wise in your own eyes; fear the Lord and turn away from evil. This will be healing for your body and strengthening for your bones".

Christians should also advocate for ethical medical practices that respect the sanctity of life and promote true healing rather than profit-driven care. By supporting alternative, holistic approaches to health, believers can help create a system that aligns with God's design for human wellness.

In brief, the medical death industry, as described in Illuminati Agenda 21, represents a dark side of the global health system that prioritizes profit and control over the well-being of humanity. Through the manipulation of pharmaceuticals, medical procedures, and end-of-life care, the elite seek to create a society that is physically weakened, spiritually disconnected, and dependent on external systems for survival. For Christians, it is essential to remain discerning, vigilant, and committed to seeking health and healing in ways that honor God's creation and design for life.

By rejecting the materialistic and profit-driven aspects of the modern medical system and embracing a holistic, God-centered approach to health, believers can resist the forces that seek to exploit and control them. As we trust in God's wisdom and care for our bodies, we can live in alignment with His will and remain strong in the face of these deceptive systems.
